

Party preferences in June

Parliamentary elections in Poland will be held in October. The success of Paweł Kukiz, who received 20.8% of votes in the first round of the last presidential election, stirred hope for a change in Polish politics and encouraged different groups to create new political groupings. In the next parliamentary elections the movement around Paweł Kukiz will field its candidates. In June, almost one-fifth (19%) of citizens willing to participate in elections declared the intention to vote for the committee organized by Paweł Kukiz.

In the May presidential elections Andrzej Duda, the candidate of PiS (Law and Justice), won. Since then, the party supporting him has topped the ranking of party preferences. At present it can count on the votes of a third (31%) of voters in the Sejm and Senate elections. One-fourth intend to vote for the ruling Civic Platform (PO). The other parties and committees cannot be sure about entering the Sejm. The best chances are with the Alliance of the Democratic Left (SLD), Polish Peasant Party (PSL) and NowoczesnaPL, the new political association formed by Ryszard Petru and supported by Leszek Balcerowicz.

If elections to Sejm were held next Sunday, which party or political grouping would you vote for?

Responses of citizens declaring their intention to vote

More information about this topic can be found in CBOS report in Polish: "Party preferences in June", June 2015. Fieldwork for national sample: June 2015, N=1011. The random address sample is representative for adult population of Poland.