

Charitable donations and voluntary work in 2017

Last year saw an increase, compared to the previous eleven years, in Polish people's charity and voluntary activities: most often this took the form of money donations to those in need (71%, up 7 percentage points over 2016) or donations of goods (62%, up 3 points), while donating one's work was less frequent (25%, up 5 points), as was working as a volunteer (8%, up 2 points).

Percentage of people saying that in 2017 they:

More on this subject in the CBOS report (in Polish): "Activities and Experiences in 2017", February 2018. Survey carried out in January 2018 on a representative random sample of adults resident in Poland. N=951.